

Editorial on Leadership Abilities

“If your actions inspire others to dream more, learn more, do more and become more, you are a leader” - John Quincy Adams

The strong-creative leaders are source of courage and joy to their followers. No nation can progress without a strong-creative leader. The great leaders criticize themselves to entertain others. The gene theory is not applicable to the enlightened leader. A strong-creative leader is the love leader among the group of leaders of a nation. Only a strong and creative leader is successful in making a nation rich. Unprotected and unorganized people cannot be successful in becoming rich on the mass scale, without strong leadership. Fortune favours the brave nations. The strong leaders inspire us by sweet words and organized creative works also. The core leader is cool under adverse circumstances. Diffuse wars. Wars bring huge losses to all nations. Love will unite the whole world. World peace may be obtained by respecting others. Technology is trying to unite the whole world. The bio-technology will make our lives healthier and happier. Increase your line, do not cut lines of others. Testing times bring out the best and boldest in the strong leaders. The core leaders inspire their ideologies. The strong leaders will be born from time to time to gift us the world peace, as in the past so in the future also the nature is the nano-manager who creates leaders for all herds of all the species always. Every nation has unique strength.

The strong and creative leaders should show the path of success to the people. Globalization, liberalization and privatization are the needs of the times again. The leaders are generating expectations of the peoples. As leader is, so are the people. The courageous nations lead the whole world because peoples like to follow the well-tested path of success and glory. Young engineers, scientist and doctors should learn Yoga or outdoor sports to develop their leadership abilities for the mega - crises management. Because money is in the mega-crisis management. A strong leader converts the crises in the opportunities.

Hence the top sports persons, scientists, engineers and doctors must be empowered to create the creative societies and happier world. The dynamic planning is better than static planning. Be a job creator and not a job seeker. The technocracy is far better than the meritocracy which is better than democracy in creating the creative societies.

Who does not matter? What is right matters? A leader tells what is right. Management is doing things rightly. Leadership is in doing the right things. Good-will of the people always matters. The great persons have desire to reform their nations, but their innermost bliss is deeper within themselves. A defeated leader may find bliss deeper within themselves always, during deep meditation. Management needs to improved immediately in poor nations by their leaders.

A great leader belongs to the whole world. You have to have faith in the abilities of your leader. The leader has to prove it by examples. Peoples are not getting good leaders now a days. It is because the good leaders prefer to join the multi-national corporations to serve creatively the peoples globally, and more efficiently. Government may not be the best way to serve the peoples due to too many laws, rules and regulations. Adventurous sports can solve the crises of lack of good leadership in the whole world.

A very popular leader or artist has a very blissful and vast aura, which cheers up silently the people around them. International leaders love to do very difficult works to deserve the love of peoples. People have blind faith in their brave-creative leaders, due to their mass-mesmerizing powers. The strong-creative leaders should respect all faiths of the peoples to become popular leaders by earning the goodwill of peoples. A leader can talk in the simple words with everyone. No nation can rise without creating goodwill of the peoples in the whole world. Our value with sum of our values. Purpose of life is happiness. Happiness is Gift of God.

The unmarried leaders are doing good jobs with determination, dedication and with full creative-confidence without selfishness. There are many such examples in the history. So this is the future also. Celebacy is rightly praised in the ancient scriptures for becoming the strong and creative leaders. Beloved people increase the confidence of their leaders. The political parties and organisations may be rejuvenated by the mood of happiness due to inner happiness. It is surprising that a strong leader is never tired. A courageous leader leads from the front line and not from behind the people.

The leaders are far-sighted. Every nation should have a vision. The strong and creative leaders are God gifted. The destiny of the whole humanity is the victory over all viruses as in the past so in the future also, due to the vast team work of scientist, doctors and biotech companies. It is miracle of the nature that hard working children of the poor families are evolving as the strongest leaders of a nation as genetic laws are not applicable to the enlightened persons. Leaders are optimistic. The law of actions is also applicable to the leaders. Those who respect their teachers become the great persons. India will produce the adventurous leaders as in the past so in the future also. India has recently contributed many great leaders to the whole world.

The media must not incite the international wars. The self-restraint is the best policy in the interest of the world peace. It is time to think locally and act globally. Use opportunities to increase your strength and improve relationship. Bio-technology will save the world. Governments should try to be welfare governments. The sacred thoughts will save our lives. We should inspire the human value. The fair, healthy and creative competitions may transform all the societies. Scientists should become good business leaders to spread the science and technology among the peoples.

The blooming is the law of lives. All the healthy nations will bloom one day automatically, cyclically and eternally. So India will also bloom (say in 2037 or so). India will be world leader in the field of tunneling in the weak rocks in the future due to activities of ISRMTT and Government of India (GoI) etc. Because tunnelling is becoming rapidly the most profitable project. Indian engineers are performing the astonishing engineering miracles in adverse geological and ecological conditions etc. All the religions will produce the great leaders automatically, cyclically and eternally as in the past so in the future also. The whole world needs the powerful health leaders in every country. Big companies will make India the 3rd richest country of the world. Bigger the team, bigger the success. Maximize the profit minus loss. Innovate and inspire.

The world government is needed to impose the quality of governance in every nation, execute the UNO plans, bring smiles on the faces of all, improve the relationship between the nations, to provide the world leaderships and protect the peace-loving nations. The world army (like expanded NATO) will reduce expenditure of most nations to defend themselves which in term is used to serve the poor peoples. We have to change the mood of wars into the mood of happiness with the help of our own inner happiness, within us all. The entertain should calm down anger of their leaders. There is need for a new world order quickly. The love can transform all the governments. Governments should actually appear to be welfare governments. Somehow the service to God and peoples should be made possible by the governments. The secularism means services to all the faiths. The rating and ranking systems will bring the international justice to the institutions and peoples. The world government is needed to inspire the human values. Minds of the governments need to be peaceful purified. The underground cities will save the world from the natural destructions, air, water, sound and electromagnetic pollutions, wars, global warming and climate changes, fires etc. The underground shelters are actually saving lives of innocent children in the war zones in 2020. Protected countries are the lucky countries.

The leaders can also develop the noble character by actually doing the noble deeds after listening to their inner voice of own pure conscience. The peoples listen to their leaders in the crises. The people stop listening to their leaders after the crises are solved.

The strong leaders are strict in the mass actions in the interest of the peoples in crises. A strong and creative leader respects the internationally reputed experts. A strong leader takes quick decisions. Only love can transform the leaders, governments and peoples. Governments should win hearts of the people for their stability. Freedom from fears should be the fundamental right of the peoples all over the world.

The fate is more powerful than the leader. One who rises has to fall down ultimately. The nation is a great equalizer. Yet bliss will ever be found deeper within us all in all the ages and eras. Therefore deep meditation is going to be the future world culture. The contentment is the cause of happiness. Finally inspire wisely yourself. The cheerfulness is the solution of many problems. The outdoor sports are better than yoga in removing laziness of persons.

UNO should try to eliminate the possibility of the virus wars or any other form of world wars in the future for safety of the peoples all over the world. Peoples must be saved from the evil governments. Save the creative people. Rule of wise persons should be ensured.

The organisations are run by the people and not the machines only. So India must win hearts of the whole world. Privatization will improve the efficiency of government organisations, attract more investments, and will be more innovative and so based on the modern technologies. Law cannot transform the peoples. Love may transform the peoples. Love is the immortal nectar. The high-entropy technologies and chemicals (polluting industries) must never be used. Only the big companies can be creative on the mass scale. Only the big companies can destroy the rule of mafias. The dynamic planning is better than the static planning. Try to be in good books of a big company to rise in life.

The organized peoples are real God who can change the governments, the constitutions and their faiths in all nations. The organized peoples can create revolutions as in the past so in the future also. Peoples are now more powerful than their governments. Truth is God of the poor peoples. The light of knowledge is eternal, strongest and inspiring to all.

The happy persons motivate. The happy persons do not criticize. Be the cause of happiness to others. Let every nation be the cause of happiness to other nations. Then there will be no world wars. The character development should be the first priority of the world. Let us bloom like the sweet lotus flowers in the muddy waters. Mother nature is creating happiness cyclically, automatically and eternally. The protected earth protects us. Justice has to be made possible.

Only the strong world army can save the planet earth. Military solution is the final solution. Only military rule can glorify God Almighty. World army can teach human values and moral courage. The scientists, engineers and doctors will save the world. Oxygen is our main food. Oxygen purifies brain, body and blood. India will regain its prime-time-great strength as in the ancient past so in the future, due to the law of the negative bio-entropy. Because the adventurous sports will make India a leading nation. It is time that India should now become the moral leader of the whole world.
